HSQE Officer

EA Networks has a strong focus on people, culture and a commitment to leading edge technology. We own and operate our region's electricity distribution network and fibre optic communications network and are the trusted infrastructure platform that delivers electrical energy to every home and business in our region.

About the role

We are looking for a HSQE Officer to provide effective Health Safety quality and environmental support to ensure the company's Field Services division meets all its business objectives and continually promotes a positive health and safety culture, while complying with all applicable legal requirements.

You will

- Maintain and develop Field Services HSQE system, ensuring documentation is concise, meets applicable legislative and other requirements and is kept up-to-date.
- Provide professional support and advice to management and staff on occupational safety, health, environmental and quality matters.
- Provide an assurance and audit role for Field Services.
- Assist staff and contractors in respect of compliance with relevant legislation, standards, and contractual arrangements.
- Engage staff and managers in all departments to maximise improvements in safety performance.
- Produce HSQE reports as required.
- Promote and monitor the HSQE culture.

An understanding of health and safety legislation alongside proficiency and working experience with ISO or related standards is required. Your success in this role will be determined by your ability to create trusted relationships with personnel to encourage them to work in a safe manner. Knowledge of the electricity/utilities industry would be advantageous, but not essential.
